

1. Title: Associate of Arts: Liberal Arts: Emphasis in Social and Behavioral Sciences
2. Summary of Goals—Learning Outcomes:

These courses emphasize the perspective, concepts, theories and methodologies of the variety of disciplines that comprise study in the Social and Behavioral Sciences. Students will study human experience in the context of the larger society by applying investigative methods to collect, interpret, and present scientific data. These social science findings will be employed to analyze social change, analyze social problems, and analyze and develop social policies. Topics and discussions will stimulate critical thinking about how findings and ideas in social science can be applied to explain phenomena and events that influence the larger society.
